

Contents

	Page
Executive Summary	vi
Introduction: A Transformed World	1
More Change than Continuity	3
Alternative Futures	3
Chapter 1: The Globalizing Economy	6
Back to the Future	7
Growing Middle Class	8
State Capitalism: A Post-Democratic Marketplace Rising in the East?	8
Bumpy Ride in Correcting Current Global Imbalances	11
Multiple Financial Nodes	12
Diverging Development Models, but for How Long?	13
Chapter 2: The Demographics of Discord	18
Populations Growing, Declining, and Diversifying—at the Same Time	19
The Pensioner Boom: Challenges of Aging Populations	21
Persistent Youth Bulges	21
Changing Places: Migration, Urbanization, and Ethnic Shifts	23
Demographic Portraits: Russia, China, India, and Iran	24
Chapter 3: The New Players	28
Rising Heavyweights: China and India	29
Other Key Players	31
Up-and-Coming Powers	35
Global Scenario I: A World Without the West	37
Chapter 4: Scarcity in the Midst of Plenty?	40
The Dawning of a Post-Petroleum Age?	41
The Geopolitics of Energy	45
Water, Food, and Climate Change	51
Global Scenario II: October Surprise	57
Chapter 5: Growing Potential for Conflict	60
A Shrinking Arc of Instability by 2025?	61
Growing Risk of a Nuclear Arms Race in the Middle East	61
New Conflicts Over Resources?	63
Terrorism: Good and Bad News	68
Afghanistan, Pakistan, and Iraq: Local Trajectories and Outside Interests	72
Global Scenario III: BRICs' Bust-Up	76

Chapter 6: Will the International System Be Up to the Challenges?	80
Multipolarity without Multilateralism	81
How Many International Systems?	82
A World of Networks	84
Global Scenario IV: Politics is Not Always Local	89

Chapter 7: Power-Sharing in a Multipolar World	92
Demand for US Leadership Likely to Remain Strong, Capacities Will Shrink	93
New Relationships and Recalibrated Old Partnerships	93
Less Financial Margin of Error	94
More Limited Military Superiority	97
Surprises and Unintended Consequences	98
Leadership Will Be Key	98
